

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

UNCLE ELI'S QUILTING PARTY

HON. HOWARD COBLE

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, March 29, 2004

Mr. COBLE. Mr. Speaker, on Thursday, April 1, 2004, several hundred people will gather at a location in my congressional district for the 73rd year in a row to commemorate what some fear is becoming a lost art—quilting. No one knows what the future holds for this wonderful tradition, but thanks to a group of dedicated volunteers, there will be a permanent reminder to all who travel to our area.

On April 1, an historic highway marker will be unveiled commemorating "Uncle Eli's Quilting Party." Named after Eli Whitney—the father of the cotton gin—"Uncle Eli's Quilting Party" has been a tradition in Alamance County, North Carolina, since 1931. The unveiling will take place in front of the community center that bears Eli Whitney's name on the "Football Road" (SR 1005) in southern Alamance County. Community volunteers wanted to mark the historic and cultural significance of "Uncle Eli's Quilting Party" with a roadside historical marker. The state of North Carolina agreed that it met the standards needed for the sign's erection, but it did not have any available funding. So, like the determined quilters the sign commemorates, the group pitched in, raised the needed funds themselves, and convinced the state to manufacture the sign. On April 1, all will gather with pride when the sign is unveiled.

To fully appreciate the wonderful traditions kept alive by the quilters, allow me to quote Erma Kirkpatrick from Quilting in America, Beyond the Myths: Selected Writings from the American Quilt Study Group (edited by Laurel Horton):

"The day begins early. By 8:00 a.m., the first cars have parked outside the big old brick gymnasium, which is the Eli Whitney Community Center. Nannie McBane, quilter, quilting instructor, and coordinator of the quilting party unlocks the door. Inside, the gym seems huge, cavernous and bare. One or two quilts have been 'put in' the previous day so the quilters can get an early start. Otherwise the gym is empty, with bleachers folded against the wall and tables stretched out along one end ready to receive food. Gradually the room comes to life. A table is placed by the door so that everyone can sign the register and make a name tag to wear. Early arrivals unfold chairs brought from the storage room and begin to wipe off the bleachers. As women bring in quilted items for display, willing hands help drape the quilts over the now-dusted bleachers or hang them on clothes lines which are stretched around the walls. Suddenly there is a quilt show! . . . The day and the quilting progress. Around noon the covered dishes are uncovered, the line forms, a blessing is asked, and a serious attack is made on the heavily loaded tables . . . The quilters take pride in their cooking as well as their quilting."

Erma Kirkpatrick also writes that in the last few years, the focus of "Uncle Eli's Quilting Party" has changed: "Today the quilting party is a social gathering for which the Eli Whitney community is well known. People attend from as far away as 50 miles. There is less dedication to putting in and completing a quilt. In fact, seldom is a single quilt completed by the end of the day. The number of quilts in frames has gone down and the number of visitors has increased. It has become a spectator sport."

No matter what the future holds, "Uncle Eli's Quilting Party" will continue to mark the start of spring in southern Alamance County. And thanks to a group of dedicated, civic-minded quilters and their fans, a highway marker will let the world know that there is a quilting party every year in North Carolina that would make Uncle Eli proud.

HONORING THE STATE CHAMPION CLARKRANGE HIGH SCHOOL LADY BUFFALOES

HON. LINCOLN DAVIS

OF TENNESSEE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 30, 2004

Mr. DAVIS of Tennessee. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Clarkrange High School Lady Buffaloes' for winning this year's Tennessee Class A basketball championship. This is the Lady Buffaloes seventh state title. In winning their seventh title they knocked off the defending state champions.

When people talk about this team you hear words like grit, determination, and cohesion. All three are part of the formula that makes a winner. Clarkrange residents can be proud of the accomplishments of the Lady Buffaloes, who last made it to the state championship in 1995.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO PETE JONES

HON. SCOTT MCINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, March 30, 2004

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, it is with a heavy heart that I rise to pay tribute to the life and memory of Pete Jones of Buffalo, Wyoming, who passed away recently at age sixty-nine. I personally knew Pete well, and he was a devoted family man, a dear friend, and a beloved member of his Buffalo, Wyoming and Glenwood Springs, Colorado communities. As his family and community mourn his passing, I believe it is appropriate to recognize the life of this exceptional man, and his many contributions to his community and state.

Pete was a man of the highest integrity and ethics. During his years spent in Glenwood Springs, he was known in the business community for his fair dealing and problem-solving skills. In his spare time, he immensely enjoyed the rodeo, competing in rough stock events, and also trained and worked as a smokejumper. However, he found the most joy in life spending time with his wife Doris, his children, grandchildren, and the families of his brothers and sisters.

Mr. Speaker, it is an honor to rise before this body of Congress and this nation to pay tribute to Pete Jones. I am proud to have known such a great man who enriched the lives of his family and community. My heart goes out to his family during this difficult time of bereavement.
